Mr. Arnold A. Zachow
112 Locust Grove Road
Rosemont, Pa. 19010

Dear Mr. Zachow:

Following our phone conversation last Saturday, I checked the cards to see whether we had anyone in Philadelphia or Washington or anywhere in the vicinity that you might get in touch with, and found none. There are a number of books in that area, but we know nothing about the owners. We have had no correspondence with any of them and don't even know whether they are interested. Sorry I can't give you a better report.

I gather from our conversation that you are not using material from the Urantia Book which would violate the copyright, but in any event I am sending you the statement from the Urantia Foundation regarding use of the material. This was issued recently on advice of our lawyer.

I am also enclosing "Basic Concepts of the Urantia Book" by Ruth Burton. There might be some ideas here that you could use in introducing the book to new people. If you could use this to good advantage, I could send you a few more copies.

Your name has been added to the Bulletin list and the next one will be out about the middle of October. The most recent copy is enclosed.

Sincerely,

Secretary-General

Marian Rowley
