How would you like to recommend me for membership?

Dear Mr. Eversoul:

Both of your letters arrived during a very busy period which is now quieting, and I appreciate your patience.

Going back to your first letter, the first issue of the newsletter has not yet been prepared, and the decisions have not yet been made which would adequately answer your questions. However, we have noted your views and will give them consideration in the decision making process.

In your second letter you expressed interest in becoming a member of URANTIA Brotherhood. Although the Constitution makes provision for isolated students of The URANTIA Book to become members-at-large, it has been our practice to encourage this kind of membership particularly among those who are not within range of a URANTIA Society or active study group.

You may be pleased to know that you live very close to such a group which is in Berkeley. If you will call them they will tell you when study group meetings are held. The phone number is (415) 548-2428.

The best time to reach someone at this number is in the evening.

We are encouraging the growth of study groups because we view these as a fundamental means for enlarging individual comprehension of the revelation, for bringing Urantians together regularly in fellowship, and for disseminating the URANTIA teachings to a gradually widening spectrum of mankind. If you take active interest in a study group, you will be enlarging your potential for enduring contributions to the work of URANTIA Brotherhood.

Warmest regards.

Paul Snider
