We wish to outline in this letter an agreement between URANTIA Brotherhood Corporation and yourself, author and publisher of the Concordex of The URANTIA Book, wherein the Corporation will act as distributor of the Concordex to bookstores with which the Corporation does business in the sale of The URANTIA Book.

To date the Corporation has filled orders for the Concordex from individuals. Our agreement will expand this to include retail bookstores. It is further understood that you will sell the Concordex to the Corporation at a 50% discount of the recommended retail price. The Corporation will sell the Concordex to any licensed bookstore, ~~granting a 30% discount on orders of one through four copies and a 40% discount on five or more copies at the same discount rates that apply to the sale of The URANTIA Book.~~

It is also agreed that the Corporation will notify by letter all bookstores with whom ~~it does~~ business that ~~it has~~ become the distributor of the Concordex. There will be no other promotion of the Concordex by the Corporation. It is understood that you will not engage in any advertising or mass media promotion without the approval of URANTIA Brotherhood Corporation.

In conjunction with the Corporation's becoming the distributor of the Concordex to bookstores, it is our understanding that you, in preparation for the next edition of the Concordex, agree to rewrite the introductory material contained in the Concordex. You agree to submit your draft of this rewrite to several individuals for their constructive criticism and review, with the intent of incorporating these suggestions into your final rewrite. It is also our understanding that the dust jacket of the Concordex will be redesigned in a more conservative format and that any additional printing of the second edition or a revised edition will not be undertaken without the continued permission of URANTIA Foundation.
