Dear David:

Received your letter in which you asked questions concerning use of page references from The URANTIA Book to be included with an Instructor's guide in conjunction with one of your multi-media presentations. As I understand it, you wish to develop a format that might be applicable to this and other such works you might create that deal directly with the URANTIA teachings, although not using direct quotations.

As your request deals with matters of copyright, I am turning your letter over to the Foundation for their reply.

I personally think your contribution and that of your fellow workers to the spread of the URANTIA teachings will do much to aid students of The URANTIA Book to more fully understand the many dimensions of the teachings. But probably of more importance, such media presentations will reach the hearts and minds of many of our brethren who would never think of reading the book. For me, part of the evolutionary task is to purposefully encourage the spread of concepts of The URANTIA Book by many creative efforts so that these ideas become part of the mainstream of human thought. This would then help set the stage for more general acceptance of the URANTIA teachings. No doubt, this is a long way in the future.

My best wishes to you and Sue for the new year. We know it will be filled with opportunities.

Warm regards,

John Hales, Resident Director
