This informal discussion is summarized as follows:

None of the committees had anything to report except the Domestic Extension Committee. Mr. Farwell recommended that the Urantia Book be listed in those indexes to which booksellers refer when checking the availability of books in print. It was the consensus of the Executive Committee that this be done and the Treasurer be authorized to dispense such nominal fees as may be incurred in listing.

The Executive Committee reviewed the price increase formerly recommended by the Domestic Extension Committee and it was the consensus that the book should retail for $12.00, subject to the conventional 40% discount when purchased in any quantity by bookstores, in quantities of ten or more by individual vendors, or in any quantity by local Urantia Societies. The effective date of this change is to be determined by the effective dates of listing in conventional trade publications.
