Dear Friend:

My tardy thanks for sending the URANTIA BOOK.

I have been spending a half-hour daily on it and am surprised that I had not heard of it from at least one of my many Huna Research Associates or friends who have been interested in many things which have slipped my notice and who bring endless material to my attention.

May I ask the cost of the book? It seems a shame that I do not have it in my reference library.

And may I ask how the BOOK was received? Someone must have written it down, and must have found ways and means to have it printed.

Is there an organization built around it as a religion, or what is the present standing of the material, if you do not mind telling me.

I would like to review the BOOK in some future HRA Bulletin, as I am sure most of the members have never heard of it, and need to know a little of its history and background. I also need to be able to say whether it is to be purchased by anyone desiring a copy, and from whom at what price.

I must add that I am delighted not to have it turn out to be another copy of THINKING AND DESTINY, of which I have had three sent in the past three years, even after reviewing it for the HRA in a Bulletin. (It is usually someone not familiar with the HRA who enthusiastically sends a copy.)

Again, my warm thanks,

Max Freedom Long
