Dear Mr. Bedell:

This is a Urantia special...delayed a day or two since Tuesday's threat, but urgently needing your blue pencil in return.

I hope you can have your copy of the Urantia list in one hand and this in the other while you check and double-check me. How could I have been so stupid as not to have dug out these addresses before now, at the last minute before you depart from Austrylia????? Kindly Marian Rowley called my attention to the fact that your list and the Sadler list would no doubt contain duplications, which they want to avoid, of course. Therefore, she returned this patient note:

"Thanks for sending me Clyde's book list. However, for our purpose I'm afraid it isn't very much help. The only reason we are asking for these names is to avoid duplication. For example, Ruth Carothers and Bill Sadler both know many of the same people Clyde knows and perhaps they will also be listing some of these people. But the name 'Johnston' on Clyde's list means nothing to us. Would it be possible for you to give us a list showing the full name and address of each person? I ~~know~~ am sorry it will mean extra work for you, but it will be of great help to us and we would appreciate it very much."

Of course at the time she wrote that note (last week), we both thought we had until October 15th but now that the printer's delivery date has been stepped up the pace has quickened. And I did not anticipate "no clues."

Please tell me if you prefer the "Mr. & Mrs." in each case and any other directions you may specify. I give you my standing offer to help you find a real secretary at any time. Just keep me around helping Dutch or Cynthia. Don't ever worry about firing me. Just lift your left eyebrow and I'll go quietly. Gad...how glad I'll be to have you in the driver's seat again. I have mountains of third class mail.....gotta Decide Soon!! But in this clue-searching, which included an interview with dear Barrie, I certainly got a working notion of the basement files. As everything else is around here, they are marvelously interesting! Viva November; and I'll always be a sister to you. Oh, yes, Marian Rowley said your sister Betty had asked to buy two books, one for herself and one for a Mrs. ~~Nam~~berg in California. Shall we delete her name from your list, do you think? Warmest greetings to you both. Tell Florence <sup>all</sup> her family are fine. Barrie is still interviewing but is happy in anticipation of something popping soon.

 It's incredible that you are leaving Australia so soon. Have fun all along the line and enjoy your magic carpet countries these next few weeks. This half of the trip should be marvelous, too.
 I'll bet even the kangaroos are crying to see the Bedells depart their countryside.
