Notice

It has come to our attention that various unauthorized persons and organizations have, from time to time, been making use of the name or designation URANTIA—or some obvious derivative—in connection with their respective activities, even though they have no connection of any kind with the URANTIA Foundation or its work. Such use is prohibited.

The URANTIA Foundation is the official headquarters of all activities involving the URANTIA Book and its teachings. The Foundation conducts its work in close cooperation with the URANTIA Brotherhood, which is composed of authorized URANTIA Societies.

The word URANTIA, when used in an identifying sense, refers solely to the URANTIA Foundation and its related organizations. The Foundation is the exclusive owner of this trademark and service mark. The concentric-circles symbol is also the exclusive mark of the Foundation.

The URANTIA Foundation is the publisher of and the sole owner and holder of the copyright in, The URANTIA Book. Official URANTIA publications and activities are identified by the marks URANTIA and the concentric-circles symbol.

The address given below is the proper one to which all inquiries and other correspondence should be directed.
