called at this office on December 6 because they wanted to see Foundation headquarters. They were on their way to Nick's home in Wisconsin to spend Christmas with his mother.

I showed them around the office, introduced them to the helpers present, and also referred them to Vern as Sebastopol is near San Francisco, and I thought they would perhaps attend Vern's classes. They seemed like very intelligent young people and very much interested in the URANTIA Book.

I gave them the usual literature.
