Dear Julia:

The Board has now been able to finalize a preliminary opinion with regard to your suggested Parent's Guide.

I am pleased to report that the Trustees have no philosophic objection to your completing the proposed Parent's Guide, preparing it in form for review by the Trustees.

In conjunction with this, I have been asked to mention that should approval ultimately be given, the Board would probably not be interested in publishing the Parent's Guide, but publishing by the URANTIA Foundation is not to be ruled out at this time.

Also, any final approval would contemplate an appropriate agreement between you and the foundation dealing with such matters as marketing, advertising, copyright protection, possible royalty. If you have any specific thoughts relating to these matters, it may be well for you to convey them to us at this time should you so desire.

In all likelihood we feel it would be essential for you to assign your copyright in this publication to the URANTIA Foundation.

In any event, for the moment, please know that we have no objection to the completion of the proposed Parent's Guide, though we don't wish this communication of "no objection" to be interpreted as any commitment for permission to publish in the future. We will need to consider that separate issue in the future when we shall have the final product for review.

Please accept our very best wishes, especially as we enter the traditional holiday season. We shall look forward to receiving your finalized draft of the Parent's Guide.

Sincerely,

Thomas A. Kendall
President
