My dear Mr. Wilson:

I am sending you with this, registered mail, some copy for the title page and other front matter of our Book. Will you be good enough to have your artist suggest the proper handling of this matter. You will note several indentations. Treat these suggestions of ours as advice best to you. I have picked out only a few sheets, but that will probably be sufficient for our present purpose.

Yours very truly,

Wilfred C. Kellogg

Dear Mr. Kellogg:

You have asked me for today's price on all of the work we have done on the URANTIA Book. I find that we would sell such a job for $22,544.00.

I have figured this on the basis of today's selling rates rather than taking the contract price and adding only wage increases. In this way we have included also the increase in fixed charges over and above wage increases. This, however, does not include any additional proofreading that you may have done or have had done, and such cost probably should be figured in.

We will be happy to again read the preliminary material. If you will send the proofs to me at your convenience I will then quote a price for this work.

Sincerely yours,

R. R. DONNELLEY & SONS COMPANY

Dear Mr. Kellogg:

I would like to give you a revised figure for the pricing you have asked for on all the work we have done for the URANTIA book. The total figure now includes composition, foundry lockup, plates, and an additional reading cost which you have had done.

This figure amounts to $22,050.00 and is priced as of January 1, 1950.

Please let me hear from you if anything further is required.

Sincerely yours,

R. R. DONNELLEY & SONS COMPANY

Dear Mr. Kellogg:

I believe it is the usual practice to ask you for disposition of type after we have made plates. The item now in question is the ~~610~~ pages of type we have standing of the preliminary matter for your book.

This material has been plated and we would like your authorization now to kill the type.

Sincerely,

R. R. DONNELLEY & SONS COMPANY
